

Keeping well this spring

Measles cases are rising in England

More than 3 million unvaccinated children are at risk of catching measles in England.

Measles can make your child
seriously unwell

Make sure your child is up to date with their MMR vaccinations

NHS

MMR immunisation is the safest way that parents can protect their children. Measles, Mumps and Rubella are highly infectious and can lead to serious problems including meningitis, hearing loss and problems during pregnancy. Vaccines teach your immune system how to create antibodies that protect you from diseases.

It's much safer for your immune system to learn this through vaccination than by catching the diseases and treating them. Once your immune system knows how to fight a disease, it can often give you lifelong protection. Catching measles would not protect you from mumps or rubella.

Make sure your child is up to date with their MMR vaccinations. You can make an appointment with your GP practice to catch up on missed doses.

The more we chat, play and read with our kids, the more we help build their brains.

Any time, anywhere, whether at home or out and about, it all adds up.

There's no need to buy lots of toys or have big days out. Wherever you are, simply chatting back and forth, answering your child's questions and sharing special moments together all help their brain to grow and develop secure and strong connections. Just what they need to get off to the right start at school.

The Start for Life website is packed with simple ideas from other parents on how to build these little moments into each day. It includes lots of examples of tips and activities for you to do together with your child at different ages, as well as links to find further support in your local area.

A new film has also been released to explain how children's brains develop during the early years, and the crucial role parents play through all the little moments they spend together with their child.
